Resume Search For Lost Plane

ARGENTIA, Nfld. (AP)—Six planes flew into wind and snow over the Atlantic today in resumed search for a U.S. Military Air Transport Service plane that disappeared Thursday with 23 persons aboard.

Search planes had covered 300 square miles off the southeast Newfoundland coast but found no trace of the four-engine C118, which had been scheduled to refuel at Argentia on a flight from Morocco to Norfolk, Va.

Search and rescue headquarters in Halifax said temperatures in the search area were moderating and the ceiling was about 1,300 feet but visibility occasionally was cut by snow flurries.

Five planes were standing by at Newfoundland bases to continue searching after the six now over the water return.

A crewman on a Royal Canadian Air Force plane was injured when the aircraft was battered by winds while searching for the American plane.

The plane's last contact was with a U.S. Navy patrol plane that sighted the C118 on its radar and talked with the crew. The Navy plane said that 35 minutes later it saw an explosion in the air about 27 miles northeast of Argentia, apparently above Newfoundland's Avalon Peninsula and near the city of St. John's, across the peninsula from Argentia. But search officials said the Navy pilot could have seen a flare.

The plane was carrying 13 passengers and 10 Navy crewmen from Morocco to Norfolk, Va., its home base. The transport had only enough fuel to stay in the air until midmorning Thursday.

'I Did It' Says Youth Of Fatal Beating Of Girl

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A teen-age girl was found beaten to death in a ravine near her home and police said a schoolmate admitted hitting her on the head with a rock.

The battered and tumbled-covered body of Janice McKerrow, 14, was found Thursday night by her 8-year-old brother who pointed it out to his uncle and a police officer.

An autopsy showed the girl had not been sexually assaulted.

Police Chief Paul Shaver said the youth, also 14, was being driven to the police station when he said: "I did it." Shaver said the youth later told officers that he hit the girl on the head with a rock.

Shaver said the boy was arrested at his home after his parents called officers to report their son apparently had been in a fight. The chief would not release the name of the youth.

No charges were filed against the boy and he was held overnight in the Juvenile Detention Home.

The slender blonde girl, an accomplished musician and straight "A" student, was last seen by a close friend, Nancy Weaver. She said she saw Janice walking away from school carrying her violin and school books.

50 Deaths—

Freezing Rain, Snow Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter storms crippled winter-weary eastern portions of the nation today and spread freezing rain or snow from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Frigid weather which has gripped much of the nation for more than a week continued its siege. Subzero temperatures were reported from the Rockies to New England with the mercury 21 degrees below zero in eastern South Dakota and 33 below in Laramie, Wyoming.

Fresh snowfall that began Thursday was spread from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, dumping up to eight inches in the Carolinas. Four to six inches of snow fell in portions of Maryland where a foot or more from previous storms remained unmettled in the grip of freezing weather.

Weather rigors were blamed for 50 deaths—from accidents on slippery highways, exposure and heart attacks.

Texas alone counted 17 storm-related fatalities. Twelve were recorded in West Virginia.

Snow and freezing rain spread from California to Texas. Fog and rain were reported in the Southeast as snow flurries prevailed throughout the Ohio and Tennessee valleys.

Ice up to 30 inches thick reduced shipping in the Chesapeake Bay area and along the Delaware canal that links the bay to the Delaware River.

Smith and Tangier islands in the bay were isolated by the ice which also imprisoned a tug and an intercoastal tanker.

The snow diminished considerably during the night from Pennsylvania northward into New England after an earlier forecast of up to 8 inches in southern New England and the Middle Atlantic States. However, the snow continued through the morning in the Great Lakes region and southeastward into the Ohio Valley and West Africa but along a southeasterly course paralleling the northeast coast of Brazil. The Santa Maria Thursday night was 750 miles northeast of Belém.

Dennison called on the rebel leader, Henrique M. Galvao, to change his course and proceed toward Belém, at the mouth of the Amazon River, to discharge the liner's passengers. Among them are 42 Americans.

"Am sure you agree it best (to) accomplish transfer (of passengers) as soon as possible on this side of Atlantic," Dennison said. "If this agreeable to you will have U.S. Navy ship meet you off port to assist in transfer of passengers if necessary."

offered to remove them at sea off the Brazilian port of Belém. Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, broadcast his appeal as the cruise ship commanded by enemies of Portugal's dictator, Antonio de Oliveira Salazar still sped toward West Africa but along a southeasterly course paralleling the northeast coast of Brazil. The Santa Maria Thursday night was 750 miles northeast of Belém.

Proposal Would Eliminate 1,800 School Districts

CHICAGO (AP)—A reorganization plan designed to eliminate more than 800 of the state's approximately 1,800 school districts by 1965 has been proposed by the Illinois School Problems Commission.

The consolidation proposal, approved by the interim legislative commission Thursday, requires approval of the General Assembly.

Harold Norman of Chicago, chairman of a committee that worked out the plan, said it would afflect 683 elementary and 134 high school districts. They would have until July 1, 1965, to conform.

It also would set up a new state reorganization commission empowered to recommend to the General Assembly ways to implement the proposed consolidation. The commission would work with county school survey committees in initiating the district changes.

Beginning in 1964, county school superintendents would be allowed to initiate reorganization moves in districts operating high schools with less than 250 students, and in elementary schools with less than 200 students.

Districts resisting routine consolidation, according to the proposal, would be subject to "such steps as may be necessary" by the state commission.

Skilled In Fraud

It would be comforting to know that we really have the Soviet Communists boxed in and perfectly stalemated. Unhappily it isn't so. Their overt aggressions are largely halted, but they continuously devise insidious new techniques of subversion.

One of the things they appear to have learned lately is that if you cannot defeat a man you can sometimes make him at least a partial captive. The case of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is an example.

The Russians failed in their persistent effort to unseat Hammarskjold in the U.N. But they have raised so much fuss about him that he must now bend over backwards to avoid giving the Reds ammunition for their charge that he has acted in the Congo in an unneutral manner.

To illustrate, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, the secretary general's personal representative in the Congo, is considered to be hostile to any Western influence in that area and to be opposed to the U.N.-endorsed Kasavubu government. Hammarskjold evidently feels powerless to try to correct the situation.

Implicit in all their recent Congo maneuvers is a device the Communists seem to be using with increasing effectiveness.

The company magazine, reporting the story, added that inevitably the product of this distillation process would be known as "moonshine."

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His fellow stars have sometimes looked askance at Glenn Ford, the last of the big names to remain under studio contract.

Maybe they should change their attitudes. Glenn may not be earning their millions, but he gets the grade A star treatment, and he may last longer than most of the others.

Glenn has been under contract for 22 years, an amazing record considering his still-youngish looks. He started with Columbia, to whom he still owes one picture. In recent years, he has also been tied to MGM, and he has two more films to do for that studio.

"And I might sign up again," said the actor. This would defy all the laws for stars dreamed up by the legal and agency minds of Beverly Hills. According to those geniuses of finance, stars are supposed to form their own companies, and most do.

"Actors aren't suited to produce their own pictures," Ford said bluntly.

He gets a share of the profits in his last film, "Cry for Happy," and he'll be partnered with Frank Capra in his next film, "Pocketful of Miracles." But with his current one, "Four Horsemen of The Apocalypse," as with all his others, he works on a straight salary.

It's not a bad salary (est. $300,000), but Ford could write his own ticket with any studio. So why does he like a contract deal?

"Because I work the way stars used to work in the good old days," he said. "I get the kind of treatment that stars go to court to get, and the terms are not even in my contract."

"My own contract is only a page long. The rest of the things were established on a handshake between (MGM exec) Benny Thau and myself."

Among the Ford terms: Use of the No. 1 dressing room suite (once tenanted by Clark Gable), redecorated once a year. A telephone in his dressing room on the set (a rarity in studios). A 9.5 work day or 6 at the latest. "Actors should work normal hours, the same as anyone else."

He has just as much respect for the buck as anyone, but he plans to continue resisting the stampeded toward independent production.

"I've had a lot of guys tell me I can earn a million dollars by making a picture with them," Ford said. "Of course, the script isn't quite right, and they won't spend much money on the picture. It doesn't take many of those before you're washed up."

Very truly yours,

"Oh, No!"

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy was much more sure of himself at his first presidential news conference than President Eisenhower was at his first conference after becoming president eight years ago.

It was expected: After 14 years in Congress Kennedy was better informed on government details than Eisenhower was when he moved into the White House after his long Army career.

Eisenhower was tense and faltered in his answers at his first conference. Wednesday night Kennedy didn't appear tense. But he was hardly lighthearted. And, like Eisenhower, he made some bobbles.

Actually, Kennedy had more reason to be tense than Eisenhower had at his first White House news session.

Kennedy was being watched from coast to coast on live TV and his words, bobbles and all, once said couldn't be tidied up.

Eisenhower's first news conference transcript of questions and answers, after a going over by his aides, was released without direct quotes. So the faltering did not show up in the record.

Still, there was a double lack of precision in Kennedy:

1. He was a little vague on some answers, a little generalized. This is understandable since he is still in the process of whipping together programs which, if completed by Wednesday night, would have enabled him to answer better.

His precision in this area should improve steadily as his programs and policies take shape and are spelled out in detail for Congress and the country.

2. There was a certain imprecision in the way he answered. Instead of being steadily terse and pointed and then stopping, he showed a habit of repeating himself.

Whether this will change as he holds more conferences depends on his own capacity for self-criticism and the suggestions of his aides.

Whether it is an integral part of his character, or the start of a deliberate policy which he will pursue, Kennedy avoided the appearance of sensationalism even when stating the sensational.

For example: The outstanding news item at his conference was the announcement that the Russians have released two members of the American RB47 plane who had been captured last July.

The Russians had refused to release them for the Eisenhower administration. Their doing so at the start of Kennedy's administration was a concession toward creation of renewed good will between this country and Russia.

As you see, dear lady, there's no mention of nervous tension. There's no need to go to the trouble and expense of having X-rays. Surgery won't correct it unless you're willing to undergo a major operation on the basis of an unproven theory. And the condition has nothing to do with the process of growing old.

About all that's really worth doing is to take nightly doses of mineral oil to prevent intestinal content from getting caked in the little pockets.

In my opinion, the association of the two conditions is coincidental. Hence, I favor a policy of strict conservatism.

As you see, dear lady, there's no mention of nervous tension. There's no need to go to the trouble and expense of having X-rays. Surgery won't correct it unless you're willing to undergo a major operation on the basis of an unproven theory. And the condition has nothing to do with the process of growing old.

Instead, he said he had three announcements to make and his news on the fliers was No. 3.

Outwardly it would seem—if what he said can be taken as the policy he will pursue—he intends to follow Eisenhower's policy of avoiding any interference with Congress.

Eisenhower carried this to such an extreme that some of his programs got massacred because he didn't fight for them.

One of the worst bottlenecks in Washington that before too long President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson face is a slowdown over relations with Congress.

The vice president is still conscious of his past position as Senate majority leader, when the President was decided a junior grade follower. But it is the President who now leads in determining what the administration's legislative program will be. And it remains to be seen whether the vice president can follow and support as well as he has led.

Kennedy has been criticized for not using his influence through Johnson or otherwise, to persuade the Senate to change its rules on limitation of debate at the opening of Congress. A couple of phone calls might have done it.

Capital Is Expectant as New Team Takes Over

But in his defense, it should be made clear that at the time this matter was sidetracked to the Senate Rules Committee, Kennedy was neither president nor was he a senator. So he had no official voice in the matter.

The complexion of Congress has not changed appreciably from last year. If anything, it is a shade more conservative. It is not the kind of Congress apt to give whirlwind approval to an extremely liberal program like the New Deal reforms that sailed through F.D.R.'s first 100 days in office. If the Kennedy honeymoon does end soon, it could be over a program such as this.

But in the weeks before inauguration, Congress showed a warm friendliness toward the new President. It showed tolerance toward practically all of the new administration appointees and a willingness to co-operate with them.

They have been of a remarkably high order, with a potential for creative leadership that has not been one of the outgoing administration's greatest assets.

The mood in Washington as the Kennedy administration settles down to work is one of hope and high expectations that its challenges will be met with decisiveness and distinction.

Clubs Becoming a Bore?

Put Them to This Test

Do you suffer from frequent attacks of clubitis? That is, do you sometimes think that if you have to go to one more meeting, serve on one more committee, or call one more list of names you'll blow your top?

If so, it is high time to put every organization to which you belong to a test. Ask yourself these questions about each one:

- Am I still as interested in this group as I was when I joined and as convinced as I was then that it serves a useful purpose?
- Do I enjoy anything about being a member of this organization, or do I simply belong because I feel I should?
- Would I quit this organization tomorrow if I weren't afraid of what "they" (meaning the other members) would say about my quitting?

If these questions to each organization to which you belong to a test, you may be shocked at how many of them flunk the test outright.

TRY THESE QUESTIONS ON EACH ORGANIZATION AND YOU MAY BE SHOCKED AT HOW MANY OF THEM FLUNK THE TEST OUTRIGHT.

Legion Auxiliary Meets

Mrs. Denton Coonrod, president, presided over the regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary organization when it was held on Wednesday evening at the Legion Hall. Mrs. Richard Lashmet, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. Roy Kaltschnee, treasurer, reported the organization had received $300 from the Legion as their share of the burgoo proceeds, thus making a balance of $481.51 in the treasury.

Play it safe . . . take time tomorrow to reserve a Safe Deposit box at Elliott State Bank. Everyone has many valuable papers that would be difficult — perhaps impossible — to replace. If they were lost, misplaced, stolen or destroyed by fire you would spend endless weeks trying to reconstruct records and obtain duplicates. Valuables kept in an Elliott State Safe Deposit box are always there when you need them. The cost is very nominal. Make safety first on your list tomorrow. ASK - SEEK KNOCK Everyone knows that success comes not to those who merely desire it, but to those who achieve it through long, hard work.

It is odd then, that in the spiritual area of life some people should expect blessings to come for the asking.

Those who really understand PRAYER know that it's more than mere asking. It is seeking. It is the hungry search for truth and moral enlightenment... digging for spiritual gold in the hills of life.

But PRAYER is something more even than seeking. It is knocking... meeting life's obstacles bravely... waiting with patient determination until closed doors open... entering portals that the more timid pass by.

We wouldn't really need churches if spiritual growth came for the asking. But we do need churches to help us seek the treasures of God. And through our churches, with the united strength of millions of Christians, we knock on the portals of the more abundant life—and there find it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

DID YOU KNOW:

That if anyone opposes the Bible teaching or a faith which works as the condition of salvation they would have to oppose faith or belief itself, because it is a work? Listen to the word of God's word. Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent." John 6:28, 29. The faith that saves is a faith that expresses itself in obeying God's commands. Fred Hicks Wills $24,000 To Arca Institutions

PITTSFIELD — Mr. Fred A. Hicks, a former Pittsfield resident, who has lived in St. Petersburg, Fla., for a number of years and died Oct. 16, remembered four Pittsfield institutions in his will. He left $1,000 to the Illini Community Hospital; $1,000 to the Community Center; $5,000 to the Christian Church and $5,000 to the Oakwood (South) cemetery.

After many other bequests are paid if there is any surplus in the estate it is to be divided equally between the Illini Community hospital, the Christian Church, the Oakwood cemetery, all in Pittsfield, and the Illinois College in Jacksonville, which he remembered with $3,000 in the will.

ON WITH THE DANCE—When the Kalamazoo, Mich., basketball team lost six games in a row, Coach Ray Steffen was ready to try anything. So Carolyn Fox, modern dance instructor, offered to teach the players a ballet routine to encourage coordination and mobility. There must be something to this classical act. Hornets shelved their losing streak.

Try To Convert Family Record Player Into Pulpit, Choir Loft

By CHARLES STAFFORD
Associated Press Writer

A Texas company is trying to convert the family record player into pulpit and choir loft. And it has been successful, at least financially.

While other companies record everything from jungle sounds to sick comedians, Word Records sticks to religious records. In only 10 years, it has grown from a single recording of an allegorical football game between Christianity and Evil into a $5-million-a-year business selling the recordings of more than 60 artists.

Jarrell F. McCracken, 32, the ordained minister who heads Word Records, regards its work as a ministry combining sound and music to make its point.

"The most powerful force in the world is sound," he says. "The force of recorded sound has an awesome influence on the minds of people."

"Good religious music can influence men, women and children. And that influence can, along with other religious forces, be of inestimable value in shaping the society of the future."

Word was begun by accident while McCracken was studying for the ministry at Baylor University in Waco, the Baptist stronghold where his firm has headquarters. He worked as a sports-caster.

Invited to speak to a church group, he conceived the idea of combining religion and sports. From a backstage microphone, he broadcast an imaginary football game between Christianity and Evil—"The Game of Life." Christianity won on an 80-yard play in the final seconds by "Average Christian" after "the greatest coach of them all, Jesus Christ," sent in the "Holy Spirit" to call a commercial enterprise with a hard-driving sales program.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

President Kennedy had little alternative to his decision to continue President Eisenhower's rule against any more spy flights over the Soviet Union.

And not merely because of Soviet threats of retaliation.

U. S. diplomats would get their ears burned off in all the foreign offices of the world if such an incident as the U2 flight of last spring was repeated.

There would be a rush for the door of neutrality on the part of almost all the free nations.

The new President pointed out Wednesday night that there are several areas of extreme tension in the world. The great desire abroad is just to keep the lid on.

Where, a few years ago, there was a tendency in the West to try to resolve all arguments over national sovereignties in favor of anti-Communist elements, there is now a new tendency to be satisfied with neutrality. Even in Britain there is a strong pacifist tide.

The Soviet campaign of threats against countries which provide military bases or missile launching sites for the United States has had some effect. Such countries are nervous, though none appear to be ready to defect as yet.

Morocco's ouster of the U. S. Air Force appears to have eventuated more from nationalistic tendencies, and from American association with France, than from fear.

One of international communism's greatest objectives would be served, however, if any act of provocation should produce a new division of opinion either among America's Allies or among the neutrals such as India. The quality of U. S. pretensions to free world leadership would immediately come under new questioning.

Kennedy, in drawing the line between the cases of the U2 pilot and other American fliers shot down by the Soviets, in effect admitted the great difference between overflights and perimeter flights.

Foreign newspapers in the last few days have referred, in attempting to assess the Eisenhower administration, to the mistake of sending U2 over the Soviet Union while preparations were being made for the Paris conference last spring.

The audience liked it so well they asked for recordings. McCracken made the record at the radio station where he worked and within a few weeks sold 2,000 copies.

Today 900 distributors and salesmen of Word subsidiaries, the Audio Record Library Co. and Word Record Distributing Co., enter thousands of American homes to sell Word records. A ministry it might be, but it is also a commercial enterprise with a hard-driving sales program.

3 Inch Snowfall Covers Patterson Area Wednesday

PATTERSON — True to weather predictions, this vicinity was the recipient of a two to three inch snowfall Wednesday night, with more snow flurries during most of the day Thursday. However, there was one consolation, the thermometers did rise a few degrees, making it a little easier on fuel tanks and coal piles.

With almost two months more of winter yet to come, it is hoped that we can have it now instead of next spring as we did last year, as most everyone remembers the first day of spring the ground was completely covered with snow. Maybe old man groundhog will soon let us know what to expect.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

ELEVEN POINTS

NEEDED AT TWO

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA

The minimum high card strength for a response of two in a lower suit is 11 points in Jacoby-Smith. This minimum is not a new feature since it is the same in standard American and almost all modern bidding.

The response is the same, but the theory of opener's rebid is not. In some other systems responder guarantees a second bid. In Jacoby-Smith he guarantees a second bid unless opener's rebid is two of the original suit or a simple raise.

Thus South's two no-trump bid is correct in Jacoby-Smith. He has a sound opening bid with no-trump distribution and stoppers in all unbid suits.

North raises to game and South will have no trouble gathering in at least nine tricks unless West comes up with the amazing lead of the queen of diamonds.

In other systems South would simply rebid to two hearts and North would either pass (in which case game would be missed), or rebid to two no-trump. South would raise that to three and this time the perfectly normal opening of the fourth best diamond would give North a lot of trouble. He would have only to sacrifice the third diamond trick in order to keep his ace of diamonds as an entry to his clubs and eventually finesse against the jack of spades for his ninth trick.

What do you do?

—Bid three no-trump. Your partner has shown 18 or 19 high card points and you hold seven and a five-card diamond suit. Do not bother to show your diamonds as your hand is thoroughly suitable as a no-trump dummy.

Two Men, $20,000 In Counterfeit Money Seized

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — Federal and local authorities swooped down Thursday night on what they described as a statewide counterfeit ring stretching from Chicago to southern Illinois.

Fred Backstrom, agent in charge of the Secret Service at Springfield, said bogus bills printed in Chicago apparently have been circulated for the last month in at least seven communities—Chicago, St. Louis, Mount Vernon, Benton, Peoria, Champaign and Decatur.

Thursday night, agents staked out along U.S. 150 and seized two Peoria men apparently en route to Bloomington and said they found in their car $20,500 in counterfeit $10s and $20s in uncirculated sheets. Also found was a paper cutter.

Backstrom said the operation apparently was on a small scale and that the money circulated to date probably totaled no more than $5,000. He said Secret Service agents in Chicago had pinpointed the source as a printing plant and were preparing to make arrests.

There was no immediate word from the Chicago office, however.

Taken to McLean County Jail, Bloomington, were Joseph Stoeker, about 30, and Joseph Brown, about 40, both of Peoria. Arrested at a roadblock near Carlock, they were named in warrants charging possession of counterfeit money.

Backstrom said two of Stoeker's younger brothers, Franklin and Ronald, also were named in warrants after they were reported seen in Mount Sterling recently.

Backstrom said none of the four apparently was responsible for printing the alleged counterfeits.

He said Stoeker and Brown had been under surveillance for some time and the stakeout was ordered when it was learned they were leaving Peoria. Patrol cars were stationed at intervals along the route, relaying information to the roadblock.

Both Stoeker and Brown declined to make statements, Backstrom said.

Joseph Stoeker and his younger brother, Franklin and Ronald, of Peoria, were picked up by state troopers Ed Heyer and Jack Ryan near Chapin Jan. 14 at 5:30 p.m. after an alert from Brown County Sheriff Dwight Adams that three men driving 1954 Ford were believed to have passed a counterfeit $10 bill at a Mt. Sterling service station.

The three men were brought to Morgan County Jail to await arrival of Sheriff Adams. Mugshots, fingerprinting and a shake-down followed. Three hundred and forty-two dollars in five and one dollar bills were found on Ronald Stoeker.

Contact was made with the U.S. Treasury agent to make identification of the counterfeit bill. He advised that local authorities obtain all possible information and then release the three men, since the department wanted to obtain the source of the counterfeit money.

The $10 bill was later identified in Springfield as counterfeit. The three brothers were released by local authorities at 11:30 p.m. The 1954 Ford was held at Brummett's garage until Jan. 17 because none of the men could show identification of ownership.

Urge Immediate Decision On Campus Site

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A legislative commission on higher education Thursday urged the University of Illinois board of trustees to decide at once on a Chicago campus site.

The commission said a "state of emergency exists" at the present Navy Pier campus and that "definite action must be forth coming at once."

One of the several sites under consideration is at Garfield Park on the city's west side. The trustees have favored this site but Chicago city officials have endorsed others.

The commission wound up a two-day hearing at which representatives of state-supported universities explained the needs of their institutions.

A Southern Illinois University representative said the legislature will be asked to authorize SIU to grant engineering degrees.

Rep. Ralph Stephenson, R-Moline, said the commission would take the matter under advisement.

In a related development, Rep. Paul Randolph, R-Chicago, said Thursday he will introduce a bill in the legislature that will call for setting up a state board of higher education.

The board would screen appropriate requests for all six state-supported universities. Budgets now are submitted separately by the University of Illinois, SIU and the State Teachers College Board.

GRAINS HOLD ONTO SUBSTANTIAL GAINS

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market absorbed flurries of profit taking with ease today and held onto fairly substantial gains.

Soybeans again moved up sharply with old crop months ahead by four cents and at new highs for the season. The advance boosted gains in those delivered to more than 15 cents for the week.

Continued strength in the soybean oil and soybean meal markets brought out a brief demand at the opening of the soybean trade where prices started as much as four cents higher. A selling flurry trimmed the advances moderately for a while.

Corn and rye pushed ahead by a cent or more, wheat and oats by good fractions.

At midday, soybeans were 2-4¢ bushel higher, March $2.61 1/4; wheat 4-1/2¢ higher, March 2-1/4; corn 1-1/4¢ higher, March 65 1/4; rye 3-1/4¢ higher, March 11 1/4.

Soybeans were 1-1/4 to 4-1/4 cents a bushel higher at the close, March $2.60-60¢; wheat 1/4 to 1 cent a bushel higher, March 2-1/4; corn 1 to 2 cents a bushel higher, March $1.13-14; oats 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, March 65 1/4; rye 3/4 to 1/2 cent higher, March 11 1/4.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a broad but moderate recovery in active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 231.60 with industrials up 1.30, rails unchanged, and utilities up .20.

Steadying after three straight decline sessions, the list moved forward as a selection of blue chips gained impressively. For the overall market gains were from fractions to about a point.

Steels, motors, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, chemicals, oils, airlines, and tobacco moved forward.

Published reports that President Kennedy would move swiftly toward checking the economic decline and assisting millions of unemployed were credited by brokers as improving Wall Street sentiment.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.42 at 643.29. Corporate and U.S. governments advanced.

WATSON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Some 38 Cuban students at Louisiana State University today faced the spring term without funds for tuition, books, room or board.

The 38—nearly half of LSU's 80 Cuban students—are victims of a clampdown by Premier Fidel Castro that has prevented transfer of funds from the Caribbean island.

A citizens committee, formed to help the Cubans, has asked for federal assistance. A state official was driven to investigate the situation.

She said he expects she'll see the President daily, "if only to say good morning," as White House physician.

She hinted that her patient may not be as convinced as she is of the need for constant stasis medical attention, "but he may be overruled."

Who will do the overruling? "I will," she said.

Burning Oil Kills One Man, Injures Another

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Burning diesel oil which had spilled over thick harbor ice alongside one of the Coast Guard's largest cutters sent roaring flames and smoke over the bow of the ship Thursday.

A civilian shipfitter who was working from a scaffold on the hull of the 311-foot cutter died in the flames. A fellow worker who tried to reach him over the crusty ice was injured as was one of the seafarers.

Grant is chairman of the International Hospitality Committee, which is working with local and university groups to raise funds for the seafarers.

The fire engulfed the bow section of the Chinoteague as it was anchored for routine overhaul at a Coast Guard drydock yard in the Patapsco River, south of downtown Baltimore.

The Coast Guard said a spark from a welder's torch apparently ignited the fuel oil, and the blaze spread quickly over the ice and formed a wall of flames over open water.

Thomas H. Koerner, 53, a Baltimore worker who was in the midst of the inferno, jumped from the scaffold to the frozen harbor surface and tried to extinguish his flaming clothing by rolling on the ice. His burning clothing helped spread the flames in his futile attempt to save himself.

John T. Roberts, a carpenter working on the deck of the ship, swung to the ice on a rope and tried to reach Koerner with a piece of canvas to smother the flames.

"Suddenly I was about four feet from him," Roberts said. "He was yelling for help, but the flames were very hot. The last I saw of him he was kneeling on the ice. He seemed to be praying."

"I heard his last words: 'God help me!'"

Fireboats moved in to fight the blaze and Koerner's body fell into the bay. Another Coast Guard cutter moving into the area recovered the body.

Roberts and Lt. (j.g.) Thomas Cummings, a member of the Chinoteague's 120-man crew, suffered minor burns.

Routt Clashes With Triopia For PMSC Championship Tonight

Rockets Oust Favored Bluffs In Torrid Duel, Triopia Wins Nightcap

Friday's Card
Consolation
7:00 Bluffs vs. Petersburg
Championship
8:30 Routt vs. Triopia

Coach Bob Winstead's Routt Rockets won a spectacular duel from top-seeded Bluffs, 80-73, and Triopia's Trojans came through as expected on a fine rebounding performance by Allan Anderson to defeat Petersburg, 51-46, in Thursday's semifinals of the 21st annual PMSC Conference Tournament at Illinois School for Deaf gymnasium.

The stage is now set for one of the most interesting rivalries in this sector when third-ranked Routt bumps into second seeded Triopia Friday night in the show-down game of the tournament. Routt has claimed the affair's crown for the past two years, having defeated Triopia last year in the finals, 48-46. In their only meeting this year, the Rockets bested the Trojans in Our Saviour's gymnasium, 52-49.

The first contest between Routt and Bluffs was without a doubt the finest game witnessed in this area this season. It had all the earmarks of a great struggle between two evenly-matched teams from the opening tipoff until the final horn sounded and it certainly wasn't a contest recommended for those with a weak ticker.

The lead changed hands 16 times in the contest, 14 times in the first half. Routt enjoyed a very brief 10-point lead in the third canto but it didn't stand up. Lee Frederick and Burl Fargo put on the 1-2 scoring punch to display a sterling game of marksmanship for Bluffs from the keyhole. Routt also came in for its share of outshooting artistry via the touch of Fred Curtis, Bucky Sullivan and Ed Carroll. Jack Lawless, the little man who elicited the outcome and hung the fourth loss in 17 starts on the Bluejays, had 11 points but his biggest bucket came with 33 seconds left to play which gave the winners a 74-71 margin and this proved to be enough for the triumph. The Bluejays went 2:33 without a score until Dennis Gregory connected with nine seconds remaining to make the score, 76-73.

Whale Of A Contest

Routt and Bluffs put on one of the finest tournament shows in PMSC history with outstanding shooting attacks that had the jam-packed crowd sitting on the edge of their seats or standing throughout the second half. The Rockets overcame a three point deficit, 71-68, on two consecutive side shots by Fred Curtis within 21 seconds to gain the championship berth for the third straight year.

Nursing a slim 72-71 lead, Curtis drew a foul award but missed and the rebound went to Jack Lawless on the side and he promptly pumped it in to nail down Routt's 16th victory in 18 starts with 33 seconds showing. Joe Cors added a pair of charity awards 14 seconds later to make it 76-71. Bluffs' Dennis Gregory narrowed the count to three, 76-73, on a long 20-foot swisher from a side angle but Bucky Sullivan registered a pair of free throws with two seconds left to play for another five-point margin, 78-73. On a peculiar in-bound pass to start the clock, Bluffs tossed into the hands of Fred Curtis and he hit the shortie to make the final outcome read — Routt 80, Bluffs 73.

Coach George Danham's favorites jumped out in front and led most of the opening moments of play but Routt right on their heels. After Routt finally surged to the top on a long bucket by Sullivan with 1:55 remaining, this signaled the approach of a tight contest. The lead changed hands 14 times in the first half after the score had been knotted only three times.

Both teams traded bucket for bucket in the second quarter until Cors put Routt out in front for the remainder of the first half with 5:08 showing on the score-board. Curtis, held to only two free throws in the first quarter, hit a bucket and two charity tosses for the biggest margin separating the two quintets at this stage of the battle, 29-24. The Rockets increased the lead to seven on a tally by Ed Carroll, 37-30, with 1:36 left and led by eight at the half via three more points by Curtis, 40-32.

Winstead and Danhaus changed their offensive patterns at half-time and this kept the third quarter at a lively tempo which produced some torrid shooting. Routt's switch got Ed Carroll open for seven points and Bluffs shook Burl Fargo loose for 11 tallies. Routt took a 10-point advantage early in the chapter but with Fargo hitting from the middle of the keyhole Bluffs slowly closed in and trailed anywhere from 2-7 points until Fargo shot the Bluejays into a one-point deficit, 55-54, with 1:10 left to play in the quarter.

With 47 seconds remaining, two free throws by Lee Frederick, who put on a remarkable exhibition of long shooting artistry in the second quarter, put the top-seeded quintet on top after three quarters of play, 56-55.

Frederick canned two straight 25-footers to start the fourth quarter and the Rockets were down by five, 60-55. Bluffs surged out in front by six, 67-61, with 4:05 left to play but they weren't controlling the boards and the Rockets were still in the contest. Jim Cox, who had put in eight points for Bluffs in the first quarter, had fouled out in the third quarter and the rebounding loss began to tell on Bluffs, plus the

FORD, HOWARD SIGN

Ford, who won 12 and lost nine last season, said he would receive the same pay this year as he had for the past two. His salary is estimated at $35,000.

Howard got an estimated increase of $3,000, from $25,000 to $28,000, although he batted only .245 in 1960.

Hugh Campbell, Washington State end, set a new NCAA record last season by catching 66 forward passes. The former major college mark was 61.

In the field goal department, Triopia finished with a fine 46% average hitting on 23 of 50 shots while Petersburg cooled off in the fourth quarter, but still hit on 21 of 46 for 45%.

Meeting Of Farm Leaders Ends Divided On Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Conference of 450 farm leaders, called by the Kennedy administration to forge a uniform farm policy, ended Thursday just about where it started — divided.

Farm leaders could not agree on what measures should be taken to boost farm income.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and his aids simply learned what they probably already knew — that farm leaders for the most part are not happy with economic conditions in agriculture.

But differences over the part the government should take — if any — in bolstering farm prices stood out in the presentation of recommendations made by officials of five major national farm organizations and spokesmen for many smaller commodity groups.

No gestures of compromise were made by any of them. The meeting, which adjourned earlier than had been planned because of a snowstorm, had not been expected by most leaders to amount to more than a presentation of viewpoints.

The presentation of conflicting recommendations brought from James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, the committee that farmers have so many organizations speaking for them that "it sounds like a babble of voices."

There was fairly general agreement on the idea that farmers need some method or other for gaining stronger bargaining power — comparable, the leaders said, to powers possessed by industry and by organized labor.

But as to the way to do this, sharp differences were outlined.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and organized cattlemen, for example, said they want less government in agriculture. A spokesman for cattlemen said his segment of agriculture wanted no part of government subsidies, price support or control.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the Farm Bureau, said a voluntary crop land retirement program plus the elimination of price supports that encourage overproduction would bring better times to farmers.

Patton, on the other hand, re-stated the position of the Farmers Union that government must step in and help producers adjust production if an increase in farm prices and income is to be achieved.

Any Troop Withdrawal Will Ruin U.N. Congo Force: Dag Hammarskjold Warns

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold warned Thursday that threatened troop withdrawals could wreck the U.N. force in the Congo and bring the big powers into the Congolese conflict.

He told Indonesia, Morocco and the United Arab Republic they "must bear the responsibility" should that happen. The three plan to pull 4,900 men out of the force in the next few weeks, reducing it to 13,259.

Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu renewed his demand that Hammarskjold renew his special representative in the Congo, Indian Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal. He first made the demand Jan. 14, and Hammarskjold turned it down next day.

Kasavubu said Dayal has lost the confidence of the Congolese people and officials by failing to prevent "brutalities and horrors" by lieutenants of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba in Oriental and Kivu provinces.

The United Nations made public letters on the two matters as Hammarskjold conferred with the January president of the Security Council, Omar Loutifi of the United Arab Republic.

Laying the letters before the council, Hammarskjold said he calls a most serious problem, the outflow of gold which has led some here and abroad to worry about the dollar's future.

Usually conservative ideas are advanced by American bankers and financial observers. Our allies have come up with some others, often at variance with each other according to their own currents.

American bankers usually concentrate on programs to make the domestic economy stronger, holding that this will make the dollar above reproach. These include balanced federal budgets, encouragement of investment at home through tax revisions, and avoidance of crash programs to aid the unemployed which might start inflation rolling again.

Foreign advice ranges far and wide.

The director of Japan's Economic Planning Agency urges abandonment of President Eisenhower's plan to cut back U.S. purchases abroad, including buy-American drives and return of dollar-spending dependents of U.S. military and diplomatic cohorts overseas.

Instead the Japanese view is that the new administration should boost both exports and imports. Then the trade balance — supposedly still in America's favor — would mop up the deficit in the balance of payments which gave foreigners the dollars with which to buy U.S. gold.

At the other end of the range of advice, some Britons suggest we halt foreign aid and save our dollars. Their country got a lot of them in the early postwar years, but since has had a business boom of its own.

In between is the West German offer of some immediate, mostly nonrecurrent, dollar aid such as prepayment of debt to the United States.

Without specifically pinpointing the gold problem, the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, noted today that exports have held up well. But it urges steps to encourage investment at home, by providing more realistic tax treatment. This should "improve prospects for a strong revival in business later in year." It wants "a program that concentrated on fundamental factors and promised to promote longer term prosperity and growth with stable prices (which) would assure confidence at home and abroad."

Roy M. Reiterson, vice president and chief economist of the Bankers Trust, New York, proposes to get rid of raids on gold supplies by individual speculators and hoarders by limiting gold dealings to central banks and governments for the settlement of international accounts. The central banks and the International Monetary Fund would have to agree on this.

The electronic and optical system of the lathe, Miller said, produces a printing plate in 20 minutes directly from photographs. It also makes line etchings from drawings.

Optional accessories permit the machine to make plates up to 12 x 18 inches.

March Of Dimes Drive Sunday At New Berlin

NEW BERLIN — The annual March of Dimes will be held on Sunday, Jan. 29, between the hours of 2 and 4 in the afternoon, in New Berlin, Berlin, Loami and Curran. The drive is being sponsored this year by the FHA of the high school and assisted by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Anyone who wishes to make a contribution and who does not expect to be at home may contact either Andrea McCullough, FHA president, or Mrs. Margaret Simpson, president of the Auxiliary.

The annual invitational meeting of the Men's Fellowship of the First Baptist church was held Monday evening at the church at 7:30 p.m. Men of the neighboring churches and their wives, and the ladies of the host church, were invited guests.

Dr. L. E. Olson of Jacksonville spoke on his trip during the summer to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. A student from Brazil, who accompanied the Olsons, sang a song of her native country.

Devotions were led by Leldon Dunn of the Island Grove Methodist church. Wayne Wood, accompanied by Mrs. Wood, sang a solo.

Following the program, a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed in the church basement.

Speaker Feb. 5

Rev. Cecil Carter, missionary to Thailand, will be guest speaker at the morning worship service at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 5, at the First Baptist church.

The past Sunday evening, a School of Missions began at the First Baptist church and will be continued for the next five Sundays at 6 p.m. Classes for all ages on the Home Missions theme for the year, "Heritage and Horizons In Home Missions" will be studied. Anyone is welcome to attend.

WCS At Island Grove

The WCS of the Island Grove Methodist church met Thursday afternoon, Jan. 19, at the home of Mrs. E. J. Erickson, with her daughters, Mrs. Elaine Flinn and Mrs. Marilyn Rechard assisting hosts.

Mrs. Brubaker of Jacksonville was guest speaker and showed slides of the Langleyville Settlement House at Langleyville, Ill. She was accompanied by Mrs. Hembrough.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Saul of New Berlin are holding a sale of part of their household items on Feb. 4, and will move to Springfield. They have sold their New Berlin residence to a family of Chicago, who are moving soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carriger have returned from Arizona, and have rented the Horace Clark property in south New Berlin.

Folk Music Will Be Waverly Club Topic February 3

WAVERLY — The February meeting of the Waverly Woman's club will be held next Friday afternoon, Feb. 3, in the Methodist church basement, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The entertainment for the afternoon will be a program secured by Miss Lucille Hageman. The program will be presented by Mrs. J. D. Lehr, of Chambersburg — on American Folk Music. Mrs. Lehr's hobby is Folk Songs from the early colonial period to the middle of the 19th century. She will illustrate her talk with recorded selections. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of members to hear Mrs. Lehr.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Jay Wemple and Mrs. Guy Martin.

The social committee is composed of the following: Mrs. Marvin Walls, chairman; Mrs. Robert Hall, co-chairman; Mrs. Keith Malibury, Mrs. Arthur Mayberry, Miss Eva McIntire, Mrs. Robert Etter and Mrs. John Woods.

Club members are reminded that Feb. 15 is the deadline for submitting entries for the Woman's Club Creative Writing contest. Entries should be sent to the 20th District Literature Chairman, Mrs. Ralph Newell, Ashland, Ill.
